Regional News

At the last Prayer and Planning Group of Leicester Forest East we had 15 people who attended, half of whom have sight loss. This was their third gathering - the previous two only saw just 6 people at each. We are very grateful for all their enthusiasm and support.

We are also delighted to announce that a collection of people from churches in both Plymouth and Barry in South Wales started last month to meet regularly for prayer, with the aim of launching Groups later this year.

International News

There have been a couple of encouraging letters from Zambia, from those visiting and encouraging the blind people in the Bemba speaking area. We are praying for contact with more Lunda readers and this may necessitate another visit from Malawi later in the year. It has been a blessing to receive letters and cards from others who are reaching out with Jesus among blind and partially sighted people in other parts of the world. Some of these will be mentioned in the next International News for Praise and Prayer. If you do not receive this please register. You are missing something good!

Literature

Easter, Buns, bunnies or bunk? that's the title of our Easter give away this year. It's by Jeff Lucas and will surprise, amuse and then give you the true meaning of Easter.

It's available FREE on Audio CD, braille and Giant Print.

Don't forget to ring our library 01858 438266 for your Lent and Easter reading.

Torch House News

We are delighted to announce that Becky Gradden has given birth to a baby boy, named Kieran Robert weighing in at 6 pounds 10 ounces. We send Becky, husband Chris and Kieran our fondest love and congratulations. Becky works at Torch assisting with our 'Insight' programme on Premier radio and other audio projects.

Holiday news

A new season of holidays starts in March with bookings beginning to filter through with lots of guests expected. Perhaps there's someone in your Group who would like to go on a Torch holiday? If so please contact Ildi Kalla at Torch House.

We are extremely grateful to all those who responded to our appeal by contributing to a brand new dishwasher.
